

MULTI-SPOT LASER SURGICAL APPARATUS AND METHOD

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An array of light beams is swept along a main scan direction and dithered in a sub-scan direction to generate a treatment pattern of spots. The array is elongated along the sub-scan direction and the dithering has a travel that is significantly less than the length of the array in the sub-scan direction.